

The Hanson family of Norwood Green

Very few memorial inscriptions in the churchyard give any indication as to what a person's occupation or profession was. Below is an image of one of the exceptions, a slightly eroded memorial inscription below a cross. There are two similar crosses on two Hanson plots which are either side of the hard path in the middle section of the churchyard just before it turns towards the old sexton's house, Till Carr Cottage.

The letters M.R.C.V.S. inform us that Abraham Edward Hanson was a Member of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons. His obituary appeared in the Brighouse News on Friday 19th April 1907.

THE LATE Mr. A.E. HANSON. The remains of the late Mr. A. Hanson, M.R.C.V.S., were laid to rest in the Lightcliffe Old Church Cemetery on Monday last. Old friends acted as bearers, Coun. J.B. Carter and Mr Levi Wells attended as School companions. The deceased gentleman was the eldest son of the late Jesse Hanson, veterinary surgeon, Norwood Green. He was educated at Hipperholme Grammar School and Edinburgh University and was for a number of years a prominent member of Yorkshire Veterinary Medical School held in Leeds. Mr Hanson died after a short illness, leaving a widow and one daughter to mourn his loss.

He was a descendant of 'Cow Doctors' who worked for the Walkers on the Crow Nest estate.

There are a number of Hansons with connections to St. Matthew's Church in Lightcliffe including some late seventeenth century burials. Robert Hanson who died in 1688 lost his wife Esther and daughter Judith in 1674, probably an example of the perils of childbirth in those days. However, it is extremely unlikely – and very difficult to check - that the family of Robert and Esther Hanson of Hove Edge were related in any way to the Hansons of Norwood Green whose family story will now be told.

This Hanson story does not start in Lightcliffe but in Lower Moor and Wyke. It has been researched by Mary Twentyman who very kindly sent us details of the extended Hanson family with evidence from a family bible, Wibsey Chapel (later Holy Trinity, Low Moor) records and Lower Wyke Moravian Church records. Mary even highlighted those Hansons with Lightcliffe connections for which I am more than grateful and which kick started this article.

Our 'starting' Hanson is Edward Hanson (1752 – 1808) who in 1781 married Elizabeth Wigglesworth – a name that would reappear a generation later. Edward was a butcher from Birstall so probably living in Wyke as Mary Twentyman noted. Elizabeth was 'of Hipperholme' which probably starts the connection with this area. Son Thomas was baptised on 22nd June 1783 in Halifax and another son William was baptised at Wibsey Chapel on 24th September 1786.

In 1810 within four weeks of each other these two brothers married two Empsalls in St. John's Church Halifax. The brides were not sisters – one could write her name, the other made her mark – but were perhaps second cousins. Their family story will be told later as again there are a large number of Empsalls or Emsalls or Elmsalls or (there are many variations in spelling) with Lightcliffe connections.

Thomas Hanson married Mary Empsall, the daughter of William and Hannah Empsall, on 10th September 1810. He was a butcher from Norwood Green. Their daughter Betty was baptised at Lightcliffe on 31st January 1813 but died on 12th February 1814. She was buried with her maternal grandparents in plot H*21 of St. Matthew's churchyard on 16th February 1814. Her mother would join her on 10th March 1820 having died aged 48 on 7th March 1820. A year later on 3rd November 1821 Thomas Hanson remarried. He and his second wife Rebecca née Highley had three daughters and two sons all baptised at St. John's Coley. But when the eldest daughter, another Betty died aged just 11 months she was also buried in Lightcliffe churchyard but in an unknown plot on 15th January 1824.

Mary Twentyman notes that

Thomas is usually said to be a butcher and / or farmer but in the census of 1831, he is said to be an innkeeper for the first time. It is probable that he farmed and was a butcher at the Old White Bear as well as an innkeeper. His wives may have actually been the person behind the bar.

Subsequent censuses confirm this and give more family details.

However, when they baptised their eldest son, William Hanson, on 15th April 1832 at St. John's Church, Coley as you can see the surname Hanson was used.

Coley was where Abraham's sister Elizabeth (Betty) Hanson had her son Empsall Hanson baptised on 3rd August 1834. No baptism record has been found for Abraham and Mary Ann's son Jesse Hanson born Q3 1837. Meanwhile Abraham's brother Edward, another butcher, had married Sarah Wormseley on 5th December 1836 in Halifax. By 1841 Edward and Sarah Hanson with two children were in Leeds where they lived for the rest of their lives and where this article will leave them. Edward followed the family's innkeeper and butcher occupations.

When Abraham and Mary Ann's six-year-old son William Hanson died on 12 March 1838 he was buried at Lightcliffe on 16th March 1838. A transcription of a ledger stone (page 10) that starts with this little chap's name exists, but the ledger stone has not been found.

This left the following Hansons in Norwood Green on census night 6th June 1841.

The detailed accounts drawn up by Samuel Washington, the Crow Nest land agent for Ann Walker in the 1840s, show William Hanson being paid for attending as a 'Cow Doctor'.

Rachel Sucksmith was baptised at St. Matthew's Church, Lightcliffe on 13th August 1826, the youngest daughter of labourer John Sucksmith of Norwood Green and his wife Rachel.

[Again, there are a large number of Sucksmiths connected with Lightcliffe churches and churchyard. The stories of

Privates Aaron, Walter and Leonard Sucksmith

and their link with

Private James Smallwood

have already been written up but other Sucksmiths appear in other articles.]

Labourer Nathan Hanson of Wyke and Rachel baptised a son Willie and a daughter Sally at St. Matthew's Church on 12th April 1857 and 9th January 1861. But then they too buried 3-year-old, another Willey Hanson, on 9th January 1861 in Lightcliffe churchyard.

When Robert Hanson married Martha Womersley on 6th April 1857 in Halifax he was described as a 41-year-old 'Butcher' and his father was a 'Surgeon' presumably a veterinary surgeon. This was the given occupation of his older brother and nephew when Jesse Hanson married Mary Ann Hemingway again in Halifax on 7th November 1860

Veterinary surgeon Jesse Hanson and his wife, Mary Ann, of Norwood Green had their first two children, Abraham Edward and Emily, baptised at St. John's, Coley on 23rd March 1862 and 8th May 1864. But their sons Arthur and Ernest Willie are recorded on parish records for St. Matthew's Church, Lightcliffe as having been baptised aged 21 and 17 respectively at the Norwood Green Mission Room on 9th July 1888. Father Jesse was once again a veterinary surgeon of Norwood Green. Their mother's name was expanded to Mary Ann Lister Hanson.

Jesse's father, Abraham Hanson, passed away on 5th March 1862 aged 54 years. He was buried with his baby son, another William, in a plot that we have not found although it was clearly visible and had its memorial inscription transcribed (page 10) in the early 1930s. And interestingly his name was transcribed as Abraham Empsall Hanson although just Abraham Hanson appears on his parish burial record and when his death was registered in the Halifax district. No probate record has been found.

Widower William Hanson who had been a farmer, cow doctor and horse farrier died on 24th September 1868 aged 82. He was buried with his wife in plot AA*2 on 27th September 1868.

Yet another William Hanson – I know, there are too many – this one known as Willie, the eldest son of ‘Veterinary Surgeon’, Wigglesworth Hanson, married Mary Starkey at Huddersfield on 18th July 1870. He was a ‘Groom’, later a ‘Coachman’ and a ‘Horsekeeper’.

More Hansons were buried in St. Matthew’s churchyard in the 1870s. The bachelor blacksmith, John Hanson, was buried with his parents on 10th May 1877 in plot AA*2.

His sister-in-law Mary Ann Hanson née Woodhead died on 24th March 1878 aged 68 years. She was buried with her young son and husband, Abraham (Empsall) Hanson, on 28th March 1878 in the plot that has yet to be found. Then younger brother 56-year-old Nathan Hanson of Wyke died on 10th October 1878. He was buried on 12th October 1878 with his infant son, Willey, in another Lightcliffe plot that has yet to be found. Again, the memorial inscription was visible and transcribed in the early 1930s.

Then there were these and other newspaper reports.

Bradford Observer

04 August 1880

SHOCKING ACCIDENT AT LIVERSEDGE

– Yesterday a fatal accident befell Fred Hanson, aged twenty-three years, the son of Mr Wigglesworth[sic] Hanson, veterinary surgeon, of Brighouse. It appears that a spirited horse, on which he was proceeding to the Stanley Colliery at Liversedge, suddenly shied and fell with its rider under it. The accident was noticed by the colliers, who went to Hanson's assistance. Whilst being assisted into the office he asked to sit down, and had barely seated himself when he expired. The body was removed to the White Hart Inn, Hightown, to await an inquest.

Brighouse & Rastrick Gazette

07 August 1880

FATAL ACCIDENT TO A BRIGHOUSE YOUNG MAN

On Tuesday afternoon an accident with fatal results occurred to Fred Hanson, a young man well known throughout the neighbourhood, living in Gooder Lane, Rastrick. It appears that for some time Hanson had been suffering from rheumatic gout and had been laid up. Not many days ago a lady sent a pony to be broken in by Hanson, who, although having given up the breaking in of horses, promised to break in this particular one, and for that purpose he took the pony out on Tuesday. Arriving at the Stanley pit, Hightown, the pony reared and fell crushing Hanson severely. He was at once conveyed to the Company's offices but died almost immediately. The pony was not in any way dangerous, Hanson having had many worse under his control.

On 7th August 1880 this young man was buried with his older brother, Osbert, and an Emma Jowett, his half-sister, in plot MM*7 of St. Matthew's churchyard, Lightcliffe.

See Jowett aside page 12.

A coroner's inquest was held at the White Hart Inn, Hightown, Liversedge, before the coroner (Mr Taylor), on Tuesday afternoon. The jury having been sworn appointed Squire Naylor foreman and proceeded to view the body after which Sarah Hanson, the wife of Wigglesworth Hanson, farrier of Goodyer Lane, Rastrick, sworn, said the deceased was 26 years old, and assistant to his father. He was her youngest son and lived with them. He has been laid up for some weeks with rheumatic gout but had been able to go about for the last few weeks. About a fortnight ago a pony twelve and a-half hands, and three years old was sent to her husband to be broken in for a lady. It was kept in a loose box and was not out after last week until Tuesday morning. Deceased left home about twelve o'clock on Tuesday morning to get the pony and go to the Stanley pit, Hightown. She had not seen him alive after.

[Another witness gave this evidence]

He sat down his forehead was bleeding profusely. He put his hand to it and then tried to draw out his handkerchief out of his pocket to wipe his forehead. He succeeded in getting his handkerchief half way out when his hand fell, and he appeared to faint. I tried to give him some water. He lived about twenty minutes.

[And finally]

After a brief consultation, it was not thought necessary for a doctor's evidence, the jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death from the falling of a pony."

A few months later his sixty-three-year-old uncle Robert Hanson was buried at St. John's Coley on 29th January 1881. Robert's probate record tells you more.

The Will of Robert Hanson formerly of Norwood Green in Hipperholme cum Brighthouse in the Parish of Halifax afterwards of Beck Hill in North Brierly in the Parish of Bradford but late of Norwood Green both in the County of York Butcher who died 27 January 1881 at Norwood Green was proved at the Principal Registry by Martha Hanson of Norwood Green Widow the Relict and Malcolm Kellett of Beck Hill Labourer the Executors. Personal Estate under £20.

Wigglesworth and Sarah Hanson's oldest son, Willie and his wife Mary née Starkey had two sons and two daughters. Ernest Starkey Hanson was baptised at Rastrick on 17th March 1872 when his father was a 'Groom' so presumably this was where his parents were in 1871. But then they moved to Manningham, Bradford where Walter Herbert, Edith Ivy and Florence were baptised on 22nd February 1874, 6th February 1876 and 6th April 1879 respectively.

This left the following Hansons in these households on census night 1881.

A Jowett and Berry aside

As previously recorded Wigglesworth Hanson's wife was Sarah Jowett. She was the eldest of two daughters of William and Mary Jowett. Both were baptised at St. Matthew's Church, Lightcliffe, Sarah on 6th June 1813 and Nanny on 25th February 1816. The family's abode was 'Birkhouse' and then 'Wool Row' and on both occasions William was a 'Labourer'.

Nanny Jowett married William Berry on 6th November 1834. He was a 'Land Surveryor' who became the 'Innkeeper' of The Sun Inn opposite the churchyard where many of his family were buried.

The Berry family story has already been told as has that of two great grandsons

Corporal Kenneth and Gunner John R Berry

Before Sarah married Wigglesworth Hanson in 1847, she had a daughter Emma Jowett who was baptised at St. Martin's Church, Brighouse on 11th August 1839. The transcription of the baptism record gives the father's address as 'Woodhouse Rastrick' although the father's name was apparently crossed out. For the 1841 census a two-year-old Emma Jowett was living with two 50-year-olds, 'Farmer' William Jowett and his wife Mary in Upper Woodhouse, Rastrick.

William Jowett died on 4th March 1850 in Woodhouse, Rastrick but he was buried on 9th March 1850 in Lightcliffe churchyard in plot A* 7. His widow continued to farm. Notice the Berrys and a Beecroft who lived with her in the various censuses.
